

Don't throw your die-cutting mats away!

Renew them over and over again with our revolutionary craft sprays!

Stick Away adhesive remover melts away any excess adhesive.

Stick & Spray temporary adhesive is then applied to renew your mats.

Step 1

Lay down newspaper or any other disposable surface material. This will be used to catch any excess adhesive or remover during the renewal process. Make sure it is at least twice the size of your electronic cutting mat. Lay down your cutting mat onto this surface.

Step 2

Spray a generous layer of our Stick Away Spray Adhesive Remover onto the mat. Be sure to get the entire surface wet. Let this sit for about 30 seconds.

Step 3

Grab an old credit card, membership card or rigid material with a straight edge and scrape down the entire mat. You'll notice the old adhesive peels off easily during this process. Go over the entire mat as you push any of the old adhesive buildup to one end and off the mat. Repeat step 2 and 3 if necessary until all adhesive buildup is gone.

Step 4

Wipe down your mat with a paper towel or cotton rag to remove any last bits of adhesive or Stick Away Spray.

Step 5

Apply masking tape or similar to cover any part of your mat that does not come in contact with paper during normal operation of your die cutting machine. Basically, any part of your mat that does not need to be sticky.

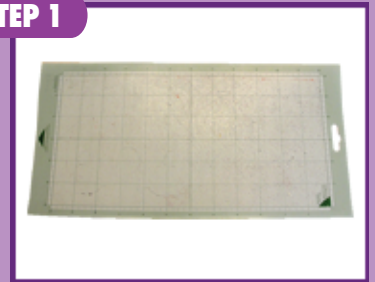

Step 6

Apply a thin layer of Stick & Spray over the entire surface of the mat. You should notice that it is hard to see where you have sprayed. You should not have a thick layer of spray on your mat, as only a thin layer of temporary adhesive will do the trick. Let this dry for about 5-10 minutes and then peel off the masking tape. Your mat is ready to use!

Money Saving Tip

When it comes time to renew your mats again, you may repeat steps 5 through 6 for a few uses without the need to remove the excess adhesive. Once you notice a buildup of adhesive it is recommended that you complete all of the steps to completely renew your mat once again.
